February 1 /Software Wire/ — Today CNP Integrations proudly announced the launch of an exciting new portal Joomladesignservices.com for showcasing their Joomla Development Services. Joomladesignservices.com is built with an open source portal framework that can help emerging businesses beat competition in a global economy, deliver compelling designs and branding messages. It can easily support the best of bread web 2.0 and “social technology” aware strategic marketing tools at a fraction of the cost when compared to other solutions. Joomladesignservices.com is implemented with the latest release of Joomla 1.5 and leverages some of the newest feature rich components and template design solutions. The site demonstrates the firm’s ability to support localization and multi language implementations. Currently joomladesignservices.com is translated to English and Brazilian Portuguese with plans to add Spanish and other languages in the future. <http://www.Joomladesignservices.com> takes advantage of Joomla’s SEF (Search Engine Friendly) URL capabilities and the content leverages CNP’s new search engine optimization practices to achieve the best possible rankings on targeted keywords. This portal is a great resource for businesses considering a Joomla CMS for their web site. It offers over 75 useful articles, 100’s of links to Joomla and other web resources and a document repository of user guides, training brochures and information briefs.

“With every generation of new tools we want to be among the first to showcase their potential and test them in a real world application. We build sites like Joomladesignservices.com and others for our own use to give us a chance to test or demonstrate capabilities and features that our customer can use. We make sure we can refine our processes for delivering technical support and development services more efficiently than our competitors.” “Our goal is to be the best Joomla development service company in the world. We do not deliver anything to our customers that we could not find a practical use for, yet we make them aware of the endless possibilities and the best possible use. For this reason we use the same technologies we support and stretch them to their outer limits.” says CNP’s CEO Christopher Nielsen.

Joomla! is an award winning open source content management system built and supported by a global community and is a registered trademark of www.opensourcematters.com. It is best known for its vast extensibility with over 4000 extensions and its ease of use for non technical users. The Joomla CMS framework is an innovative approach to building web sites and is one of the most popular platforms for meeting requirements for web 2.0, Social Technology and ecommerce capabilities.

CNP has been a thought leader in developing and supporting web portals built with Joomla CMS and providing Joomla programming and technical support expertise to expand this innovative framework since 2006. CNP has award winning achievements and innovation acknowledgements in creative content development and rich multimedia. The CNP Integrations team has surpassed competitors with expert level skills and a knowledge base on how to use Joomla for practical business applications to achieve superior business results.

CNP’s CRBM Platform (Customer Relationship Business Management) offers a superior business management solution that consolidates small business IT infrastructures to accomplish a foundation for future growth and improved business intelligence. This solution offers a significantly lower cost of entry when compared to competition and is easy enough for non technical teams to support the content and system configurations required to achieve optimal efficiency and stake holder buy in. Simply put this system Leverages Joomla CMS, info@hand CRM and QuickBooks to deliver full life cycle transaction management and a host of other powerful features and integrations for running a successful web centric business.

“There are very few companies in the marketplace that can support the vast needs of small businesses with both a powerful Content management system and a robust CRM solution,” says Nielsen.

Portals like Joomladesignservices.com showcase CNP’s expert level Joomla design and development capabilities but can easily be integrated with CNP’s CRBM Platform of integrated technologies to deliver robust business solutions for SMB’s and non-profit organizations. CNP’s “Value Building Methodology” for project management is designed to help organizations small and large to leverage the right tools for your business needs, future proof your growth potential with an extendable platform and to assure your team has aligned priorities for the best possible return on your investment.
